The Oakland Asian Cultural Center (OACC) Presents

"The First is Free"

First Sat. of each month free performances & demo at OACC -12pm

April and May Features Danongan Kalanduyan and the Palabuniyan Kulintang Ensemble

Percussive gong music of the Southern Philippines by a master musician

12PM on Saturday, April 3rd and
12PM on Saturday, May 1st

388 9th St., Suite 290, near Webster in Oakland, on the second floor of the Pacific Renaissance Plaza.

Danongan Kalanduyan and his Ensemble perform various works for traditional gongs and drums of the Southern Philippines. Once prevalent in pre-colonial Philippines, the kulintang are an important part of the country's history and culture.

This monthly series of free performances will bring to the public Asian and Pacific Islander performances and demonstrations in celebration of Bay Area cultural diversity. Call 510-208-6086 for more information on upcoming performers throughout the summer.

Support: California Arts Council-a state agency, Cultural Arts Division/City of Oakland, Wells Fargo Foundation, Godzilla West